

View this email in your browser

spring 2026

A Legacy of Innovation

Finding Inspiration in Everything

Inspiration was everywhere at PTD's 2026 retreat. Hosted by MillerKnoll at Marigold Lodge, the company's historic Prairie School home on Lake Macatawa, we were surrounded by an extraordinary collection of iconic Herman Miller and Knoll pieces. We were given the opportunity to dive even deeper into the design pool during our tour of the MillerKnoll Archives, an amazing collection of furniture pieces, ephemera, and process documents that together tell the story of modern design.

We brought our own spark, too: a shopping bag featuring a Cody Hudson design from his recent Louis Buhl & Co. show. A reminder that even the most utilitarian objects can carry intention, it led us to experiment with linocuts, geometric shapes and abstract forms, assembling a collage of individual perspectives and shared creativity.

We loved what emerged and are exploring a collaboration with Detroit Wood Type Co. for a run of screen-printed posters.

Stay tuned and maybe grab a piece of the inspiration for yourself.

An image of the PTD team with our linocut design.

If you have an itch for inspired design and incredible food, you can check out both at PTD's newest restaurant project, Medusa now!

Top Image: A custom piece by Ellen Rutt anchors the dining room; Bottom Image: Painting by Jason REVOK and sculptures by Troy Murray.

Photos by John D'Angelo

Learn More

Website

Email

Facebook

Instagram

Twitter

Copyright (C) 2026 Patrick Thompson Design. All rights reserved.

Our mailing address is:

Want to change how you receive these emails?

You can update your preferences or unsubscribe